Can I solve MTI on my own?

Theoretically yes but the probabilities will be very low.

Two reasons :

<https://www.facebook.com/sumansharmaserene>

<https://t.me/serenepaathshala>

9821060203

a) The habit and speech patterns are so intrinsic and natural to you that most of the times you would not realise something is off.

<https://www.facebook.com/sumansharmaserene>

<https://t.me/serenepaathshala>

9821060203

You need someone to point out whenever you are slipping down that road.

<https://www.facebook.com/sumansharmaserene>

<https://t.me/serenepaathshala>

9821060203

b) Changing something as ingrained as native language speech patterns is an extremely difficult task simply because it is a very old habit strongly solidified.

<https://www.facebook.com/sumansharmaserene>

<https://t.me/serenepaathshala>

9821060203

You will fall back on to your default speech patterns
again and again.

<https://t.me/serenepaathshala>

9821060203

You need someone to point
it out every time and force you to not slip back to your original speech patterns

➤ Continuous repeated practice breaks old set patterns and builds new sound and speech patterns plus trains the brain in the flexibility required to handle two parallel sound and speech systems.
